GPA Types for Graduate Applicants:

All applicants with a completed application will have a CALC GPA, a DECN GPA, and at least one CUM1 GPA (except for guests, MIGs, and continuing education).

GPA Types	Description
CALC	Overall, cumulative UG GPA for Graduate and Post Bachelor Undergraduate applicants. No CALC is recorded until the official undergraduate degree-posted transcript is received (i.e. conditional seniors won't have a CALC GPA until their degree-posted transcript arrives). Note: this GPA type is used differently for UG students.
DECN	GPA used for the admission decision. All applications with a decision must have a DECN GPA.
CUM1	GPA for a school attended as part of the first bachelor's degree by an applicant, it is the GPA for that individual school and is used to calculate the CALC GPA.
CUM2	GPA for school attended after the first bachelors degree was granted (including any additional coursework without a postgraduate degree or second bachelor degree).
HGPA	Last Half GPA – this calculation is the GPA for the last 60 hours of undergraduate coursework (calculated using complete semesters, so it might represent slightly more than 60 hours). This GPA may represent coursework taken at more than one school. Note: Only used if applicant's CALC GPA is too low for Grad admission – 2.5 and below.
SBGPA	GPA from SBAC degree.
MST1	GPA for first master's degree.
MST2	GPA for additional master's degrees (after the first one).
SPEC	GPA for Specialist's degree.
DOCT	GPA record for doctoral degree (includes PhD, MD, JD, PsyD, EdD, etc.).
TRMSTD	FOR USE BY RECORDS OFFICE ONLY. Term GPA used to calculate academic standing for currently enrolled students. This GPA will include all courses taken at their current student level (UG or GR) since the last time a degree was posted for this student. This GPA will only exist for the most recently ended term and will not reflect any grade corrections that may subsequently occur.
XCALC	The CALC GPA converted from ISIS. This is the last calculated GPA used for an application in ISIS and could be from a UG or GR application.
XDECN	The FTIAC decision GPA converted from ISIS.
