

Nurturing our Future as African-American Females: A Courageous Conversation

September 26, 2008

8:00 a.m. - 4:00 p.m.

Eastern Michigan University

Student Center Building

Ypsilanti, MI 48197

4:00 p.m. - Reception in the Ballroom

Join us for an enlightening conversation on crucial issues impacting African American females in family, school, community, and society. Topics include education, health, spirituality, relationships, parenting, leadership, and more...

The conference will address the need to move beyond problem identification and develop solutions to positively affect African American females.

Keynote Speaker Dr. Sonia Sanchez

- A poet, mother, activist, professor, and international lecturer on black culture and literature, women's liberation, peace and racial justice.
- First to create and teach a course about Black women and literature in the United States and implement black studies programs in California schools.
- Poet-in-Residence and first Presidential Fellow at Temple University.

Conference information and registration forms available online: www.emich.edu/coe/aafc

Questions? Contact the Office of Urban Education and Educational Equity at 734.487.1060 or email Cheryl Price at aafc2008@emich.edu.

SPONSORS

McGregor Fund of Detroit

EASTERN
MICHIGAN UNIVERSITY
COLLEGE of EDUCATION

Office of Urban Education & Educational Equity