

“Disproportionate Representation of Minority Students with Disabilities”

by
Dr. Beth Harry

Dr. Beth Harry is a Professor in the Special Education Department of Teaching and Learning at the University of Miami. Dr. Harry's teaching focuses on the impact of cultural diversity on education, on working with families of children with disabilities, and on qualitative methods in educational research.

You are Invited to Attend

Thursday October 9th, 2008

Lecture 7:30pm-8:30pm

Book Signing 8:30pm-9:30pm

Eastern Michigan University

203 Porter