National Pan-Hellenic Council
The National Pan-Hellenic Council at Eastern Michigan University is the umbrella organization for the historically African American Fraternities and Sororities. The NPHC’s new member process is called 'Membership Intake' and varies throughout the academic school year depending on guidelines set by each national organization. It is best to contact each chapter individually to learn what each NPHC organization requires. You can also find more information through the Campus Life web portal.

Inter-Fraternity Council
Eastern Michigan University’s Inter-Fraternity Council is made up of fraternities from the National Interfraternity Conference. Recruitment is held year-round for these fraternities in an "open" style of recruitment. Open recruitment is where fraternities hold recruitment events to meet potential new members. This year, IFC will be holding a minimally structured recruitment, where fraternities will be holding a "rush week," for all of IFC recruitment.

College Panhellenic Council
The College Panhellenic Council at EMU is made up of eight sororities, both national and local. All of the chapters that are recognized by the College Panhellenic Council have a structured recruitment process that takes place in the fall semester of each school year.
