INTRODUCTION

The Director and Coordinator of Field Placement collaborate with students in the field placement process. Students are referred by the Field Placement Coordinator to interview with an agency supervisor or field instructor. This interview allows for the student and agency to evaluate whether the placement is a fit.

Students are not allowed to contact agencies on their own.

Agencies that are approved for placement must meet very specific criteria and have a legal affiliation with the Eastern Michigan University School of Social Work. While the Field Placement Office will attempt to match students with agencies of their liking, students may not pick their own placement.

This list is for informational purposes only and does not include all agencies used for placement. Please remember that this list is subject to change and does change often.

For additional information on the field placement process please refer to the corresponding BSW or MSW Field Manuals available on the Eastern Michigan University School of Social Work website.

Home of New Vision

Ann Arbor, MI

<http://www.homeofnewvision.org/>

At the Home of New Vision, we believe in using the Recovery Oriented Systems of Care (ROSC) approach coupled with relational and empowerment models in our therapeutic services to drug and alcohol addiction. These models acknowledge that community and peer connections are fundamental to the growth, recovery, and healing of addiction. At the Home of New Vision, we encourage the development of mutually supportive and empathetic bonds with others and the community system. We have found that this assists in developing a healthier definition of self, autonomy and competency.

At the Home of New Vision, we recognize that chemically dependent individuals are not only faced with the difficulties of recovering from addiction, but that they must also contend with systemic biases, and oppression related to gender, ethnicity, economic status, sexual orientation, marital, and parental status. The ROSC approach not only addresses the importance of community connections and peers, it also identifies the importance of systems as it relates to recovery and the stigmatization of addiction. Over the years, we have found that when these issues are addressed, there is a correlation with higher self esteem and self-sufficiency.

St. Joseph Mercy Greenbrook Chemical Dependency Services

Ann Arbor, MI

<http://www.stjoesannarbor.org/OutpatientChemicalDependencyProgram>

- Greenbrook Recovery Center is dedicated to providing comprehensive services to adults and adolescents who are experiencing alcohol and drug related problems. The greatest benefit from treatment is derived when the goal of sobriety is pursued through improvement of the emotional, social, spiritual, and physical well being of an individual. We believe a positive attitude, combined with knowledge about chemical dependency and the skills to cope with the stresses experienced in one's personal environment will result in ongoing freedom from dependency.
