

Alum Rory Clark is honored with Distinguished Service Award.

Construction Management Alum Rory Clark is now Director of Construction, Grounds and Automotive at Saint Joseph Mercy Health System, Ann Arbor MI. In honor of their late son, Ryan, Rory and his family founded the Ryan's Run Foundation. They have established two expendable scholarships and one endowed scholarship at Eastern Michigan University.

Ryan had hopes of one day being a mechanical superintendent or project manager. So, it was fitting for the Clarks to honor him by providing support for the construction community.

“When my wife [Karen Clark] and I established the Ryan's Run Foundation, we wanted to make sure that the Foundation would support construction related programs,” said Rory. “As a graduate of Eastern Michigan University’s construction management program, I believed that the program was well suited for this funding. We want to ensure that deserving students will get the support they needed in order to complete their education in the construction industry.”

We are so proud to have Rory as a graduate of our Construction Management Master’s program, and to recognize his distinguished service.
