

Eastern Michigan University College of Technology hosted students from local high schools on October 5th for Manufacturing Day. These young scholars participated in unique workshops, discussions and hands on activities involving different fields concerning manufacturing and technology.

