

Good News from the School of Visual and Built Environments

Please join us in congratulating Construction Management graduate student Eduardo Andres who has published a journal article entitled 'Integration of Earn Value Management into BIM Projects' in Journal of Architectural of Engineering Technology as an outcome of CNST630 Research on Construction Processes class taught by Dr. Kasim Korkmaz. In CNST630 class, Construction Management graduate students are requested to submit their research works to a Journal in Construction Management and related fields. The other students' submissions are currently under review and we are waiting to hear good news. Thank you, Dr. Korkmaz, for your leadership and support of our students scholarly pursuits!
