Documentation Requirements

You must provide medical or related documentation addressing the severity of the condition and explaining why an Emotional Support Animal is necessary. If the interest in an Emotional Support Animal accommodation is not supported with a clear and convincing rationale, the DRC review team may not support this request. If an Emotional Support Animal is recommended by DRC based on justified and documented medical need, the room price will not change, but the student will be responsible for any damage fees acquired, as explained in the Housing Accommodation Residential Policy.

Additional documentation from appropriate outside professionals may be requested to support your accommodation request. All gathered information will be reviewed by DRC and Residential Services staff. A DRC staff member will contact you with the decision regarding your Emotional Support Animal request.

DRC Review Team Findings: ESA Accommodation

_____ There is currently no documented evidence of a diagnosis or prognosis that indicates this student meets the qualifications of an Emotional Support Animal Accommodation. In this case, an accommodation for an Emotional Support Animal is not justifiable.

_____ The DRC team has approved an Emotional Support Animal Accommodation for this student, as this request is supported by medical or related documentation.

DRC Review Team Findings: Emotional Support Animal

_____ The requested animal does not meet the qualifications to live in campus housing. The DRC will provide further details on these findings, if requested. The student may seek a different Emotional Support Animal for this approved accommodation and present the required documentation to the DRC, for evaluation.

_____ The requested Emotional Support Animal has been approved to live in EMU campus housing with this student. The student may need to provide updated documentation for this animal each year, when requesting to renew this accommodation.
