

Hello Colleagues,

The Board of Regents met on Friday, February 9th although EMU closed due to a massive snow storm-true EMU grit. University Communications provided many details of the meeting copied below. I have also attached the President's Report.

At today's (Friday, Feb. 9) regular meeting of the EMU Board of Regents, the Regents approved a collaboration between the University, Saint Joseph Mercy Health System and Integrated Healthcare Associates for a new health center, to be located on the northwest end of campus. The facility, which will be completed in summer 2019, will offer primary and urgent care for the University's students, faculty and staff as well as the greater community.

In other Board action today:

- Amid highly positive student reviews of dining services, the Regents approved extending the University's contract with dining services partner Chartwells Higher Education.
- New construction projects targeting expanding programs in fermentation science and neuroscience are among EMU's \$15 million FY19 capital budget approved today.
- The University added a new program, Master of Science in Finance, which will prepare graduate students for a wide variety of high-demand careers in the global business environment.
- EMU also added a new degree bachelor's degree program, in Teaching English to Speakers of Other Languages (TESOL).
- During the noon hour, Regents, EMU staff and student leaders gathered to symbolically throw the switch on the new cogeneration system launched by the University and ENGIE Services U.S. The system will provide more than 90 percent of the University's electricity and heat while reducing EMU's carbon footprint and saving more than $50,000 a week in energy costs.

You can read all of the documents from today's Board of Regents meeting on the Regents' website.

EASTERN MICHIGAN UNIVERSITY

Board of Regents Meeting

February 9, 2018

Mr. Chairman and Distinguished Members of the Board of Regents:

Welcome to our newly elected Board Chairman Jim Webb, and to our vice chairs, Regents Mary Treder Lang and Michelle Crumm.

Actions have been taken on many positive initiatives at today's Board of Regents meeting – actions that will continue the efforts underway to strengthen Eastern Michigan University for decades to come. The continued reinvestment in our historic 169-year old institution is more important than ever as we seek to counter population trends that indicate a reduced number of prospective students available to universities in Michigan.

The agreement with Saint Joseph Mercy Health System and Integrated Healthcare Associates to build a new health center on Eastern's campus will provide a state-of-the-art primary and urgent care facility to address the needs of people in the greater Ypsilanti community, and our internal community of students, faculty and staff. Improving health services is a top priority in our region and on our campus, and is strongly supported by the University and our partners. This project will make a positive contribution to the overall health and wellness of our community.

Scheduled for completion in summer 2019, the new health center is a continuation of a wideranging collaboration between the University and Saint Joseph's, which now includes more than 20 programs including physician assistant, speech pathology, occupational therapy, nursing and

Earlier today over the noon hour, we held a launch event to celebrate completion of our new cogeneration unit, which will provide more than 90 percent of the University's electricity, heat and hot water, and generate energy savings of $2.8 million annually while reducing greenhouse gas emissions. I'd like to thank our Board of Regents for its support of this project, our facilities team, led by John Donegan, and our partner, ENGIE Services U.S. This project puts Eastern at the forefront nationally on issues of sustainability and environment-focused leadership. We continue to add new academic programs in key areas that meet the needs of students and employers. The new Master of Science in Finance will prepare graduate students for high demand business careers, and the new Bachelor of Arts in Teaching English as a Second Language continues our emphasis on expanding Eastern's international footprint. The program is designed for students who want to engage with international students in the United States or abroad. These new programs reflect our commitment to new programs in high growth fields. In recent years, we have added new programs in fermentation science, neuroscience, information technology, a doctorate in nursing practice, mechanical engineering, electrical and computer engineering, physician assistant, a master's of taxation, children and family studies, religious studies, and data science and analytics.

President's Report/ 2

We continue to invest in academic facilities, with targeted improvements and expansion in key academic growth areas. Today's capital plan approval includes funding for projects to support fermentation science, neuroscience, the Quirk-Sponberg Theatre and the College of Business. The renovation of Strong Hall is well underway and will add a major new and modern facility to STEM programming for students. We are moving forward on plans announced at the December Board meeting for a major overhaul of the REC/IM, as well as investments in Sill Hall and Athletics. Today we received approval for the issuance of bonds not to exceed $78 million for those projects. It should be noted that we have already raised several million dollars for the Athletics facility, and we plan to continue raising funds for that and Sill Hall, which remains our top priority for state-funded capital outlay. Whatever funds we generate from other sources will mitigate what we actually borrow to construct these important facilities. It is important we continue to invest in campus facilities and in new academic programs at a time of difficult budget challenges, which, as I communicated in late January, will lead to workforce reductions. We anticipate approximately 50 positions to be affected – many of which are positions currently open and unfilled. It also will include the layoff of some individuals currently employed. We are now reviewing positions with the affected bargaining units and will know more about the affected positions and breakdown between unfilled and existing positions in the next two weeks. I understand that this news is distressing, and it is not news that I enjoy delivering. However, it is essential that our budget is carefully managed so as to reduce overall expenses to meet revenue projections. Our future is clear – we must develop strong collaborations, both internally and externally, to meet the demands of our students and others. Another example of such a collaboration announced today is the extension of our relationship with Chartwells. A recent student survey regarding dining that was shared earlier today points to the success of this partnership in improving dining areas, services and food quality throughout campus. This has been accomplished while maintaining staffing at the levels they were prior to the partnership. Eastern’s foundation as an institution of opportunity is more important than ever. We are a place where first-generation students, people from urban and rural communities, and all races, cultures, backgrounds and identities are embraced and motivated to success. I thank our students, faculty, staff, alumni, friends and donors for their work in promoting this great university and for helping us to keep moving forward.

Thank you, Chairman Webb.

James M. Smith, Ph.D.
